Quarterly News Letter | September- November 2018

Safia Farooqi

A Happy New Year to the entire TMUC community! Welcome to our third quarter newsletter showcasing activities, success stories, international visits and academic developments at TMUC campuses nationwide. We would like to thank our team members for their valuable contributions essential to the newsletter's success.

The culminating quarter of 2018 witnessed a mix of mega events starting from the annual celebration of youth, entrepreneurship and empowerment – The Global Entrepreneurship Week 2018. We are also proud to announce the graduation of University of Hertfordshire and HND Business and Skills students at TMUC Islamabad and Rawalpindi.

September marks the commencement of the academic session for many programmes and each campus has its own style to welcome the freshman. TMUC Gujranwala campus celebrated with a grand welcome party titled "Suits and Stilettoes"; whereas Islamabad campus organized "A blue Moon Affair " to welcome the new millennials. TMUC Lahore campus organized a Qawali Night as Yaad- Gaar-e- Hussain and Rawalpindi campus celebrated Retro theme welcome party.

As a landmark undertaking both the Millennium Universal College Islamabad and Rawalpindi campuses hosted their first ever TEDx events to discover ideas and spark conversations in the community. The participants gained valuable insights from the speakers hailing from various walks of life including eminent intellectuals, human rights activists, musicians, actors and policy makers.

Educators from various international higher education institutions from UK visited TMUC to deliberate on new partnerships, undertake periodic reviews and deliver guest lectures. Many International guests visited Pakistan including Mr. Simon Askey Director UoL Laws, Dr. Anthea Gregory Vice Chancellor University of Wolverhampton, and Professor Damian Ward Dean Hertfordshire Business School.

In an effort to encourage students to participate in social initiatives TMUC signed Memorandums of Understanding with various organizations; Alms 360, Lettuce Bee Kids , The Citizens Foundations and Forum for Dignity Initiatives. In addition to placing student in dozens of internship opportunities, the Career Development Center conducted an interactive and motivational session for underprivileged children with its partner organization Pakistan Poverty Alleviation on social well-being and positive thinking.

These are some of the events and undertakings that took place during the quarter. We thank our Student Recruitment and outreach staff for sharing the wonderful photos and information to keep the TMUC community connected.

Here's wishing everyone a great year ahead!

Regards,

What future for education ?

What will higher education look like in 2030? A question asked by many academic circles, papers and online platforms. Many educationists thought 15 years ago that book will be just one form of learning and technology will take over. Not all assumptions came true. We learnt that the book did become one more source of learning and many more were added to it. We do however see universities and learning becoming more student centered. From 'flipping the classroom' to 'active learning' 'digital disruption' has paved the way for classrooms outside classrooms and learning at the learners pace and time.

Sometimes the learner designs his/her own learning pattern, not relying on the obsolete lecture method Students in the future may not be assessed on the mastery of taught knowledge, instead students will be assessed on content they probably have not been taught in class, as it will be more on application of understanding. Students will become co-creator of knowledge and directly involved in how he/she will be assessed.

The once intimate, hands-on college environment is morphing into a more impersonal, automated world in which students no longer absorb a faculty-designed curriculum but instead develop a high degree of academic self-direction. Education is an expensive undertaking, and there may be a question in the future of how relevant is higher education with what is being taught and what is needed to succeed in the real world.

Universities, and institutions will have to keep pace with the way millennials learn. If an institution apprises itself with the students designing their own way to learn and empower students to become independent learners, most importantly if universities give students the control to design their own learning, a lot more success will be seen in the learning process. I want to see the day where my AI (Artificial Intelligence) manages my learning for me and is my log keeper to not just my reminder but it is my companion in the learning journey, speaking to me with the intellect that should challenge my ideas and is designed to help me succeed. This may seem very farfetched, but so did touch screens a few decades ago. I think the future of education is the learner in the driving seat. It's no surprise to me that the largest companies like Apple, Google, IBM no longer requires a college degree to apply. The current education system as it is does not cater to the millennial child and especially to the needs of the job market at this point. We need to understand and help the youth succeed in achieving their goals, and that has to come from understanding them. I can give you an example of my creative writing class, teaching my A level students and later my university students, having them go through novels and readings for objectives for language development. I would come up with 'micro and nano and flash fiction' to get them hooked. The generation that has an attention span for under a minute video, I was extremely successful in 'hooking' them up with reading and creative writing and attempts at writing themselves.

So the future of education is a blended learning model with student driving the pace for his/her learning.

Regards,

The Lahore e'clatant Model United Nations

TMUC successfully hosted the Lahore e'clatant Model United Nations on September 14th, 15th and 16th of September 2018. Thirty delegate teams from different educational institutions of Lahore participated in this prestigious event in which the delegates demonstrated their research, public speaking, debating, critical thinking, and teamwork and leadership skills.

The first day was marked with the opening ceremony in which the delegates and students were welcomed to TMUC. There were 6 committees in all, being chaired by extremely professional and proficient people. Owing to the fact that the LeMUN was falling in the Islamic Month of Moharram, TMUC decided to refrain from the run of the mill social events. Instead we arranged a Sufi Night by the name of "Yaad- Gaar-e- Hussain," on September 14th, 2018.

The Lahore e'clatanat MUN concluded on September 16th, 2018 after 3 days of heated and exuberant committee sessions. Mr. Hasseeb Khan, a renowned TV Actor and educationist was the chief guest for the evening.

The award distribution ceremony was followed by a dinner. Throughout, the event our Millennials exhibited great team work, management skills, and were on their toes to cater to any need of the hour. It was an event well managed by TMUC and well received by the participating institutions.

Bake Sale at TMUC Bahria Springs for Daimer Bhasha Dam

Due to unfortunate situation of water shortage in Pakistan, students of TMUC Bahria Springs with the support of the campus administration, took an initiative of an elaborate Bake Sale. It was organized by students from all programmes in order to generate funds to support the construction of Daimer Bhasha Dam.

Homemade goodies are hard to pass up, especially when they're reasonably priced and profits are going to a good cause. The bake sale included a large variety of food items that were homemade especially for this day.

Students put in a lot of effort and contributed for the betterment of the country. The initiative not only helped them serve their responsibility but also taught them to work together and stay united.

TEDx TMUC Bahria Springs

TMUC Bahria Springs hosted its first ever TEDx event this year!

It was the initiative and hard work of the HND Business students supervised by their Managers Mr. Ali Mujahid, Ms. Almaas. Ms. Ayesha Ahmed Khan, the Business and Skills Coordinators helped manage and coordinate the event. The speakers included the famous singer and philanthropist Abrar Ul Haq, Umair Jaswal, Dr. Amir Rasheed ( CEO Tuscan courtyard ), Farzeen Irtizaz (CEO Rani Emaan) , Mr. Ahmed Raza Khan Kasuri and TMUC/RMS CEO Mr. Faisal Mushtaq and many more

Each one of the well reputed speakers shared their experiences and their journey of success. They all engaged and motivated the students to achieve their goals. They shared their stories on the pathway to success for young generation. TEDx enabled students to think on an innovative, broader level of creatively. The stories of these speakers empowered the young generation to become more ambitious and dedicated towards achieving their goals in life. TEDx hosted by TMUC Bahria acted as a platform of opportunity for the students where they learned about their true purpose of life and the pathway to success.

Student Oath Taking Ceremony at Bahria Springs

In order to provide a strong bridge between the students and the administration, the Student Council is nominated every year to inculcate the concept of democracy, teamwork and leadership amongst the youth. Council members are nominated through an interview process and selected on the basis of their merit, social / interpersonal skills and the level of positivity they possess. In the first month of every new academic year an official ceremony is held to swear in the Council with an oath of obligation and responsibility.

The purpose of the student council is to give students an opportunity to develop leadership by organizing and carrying out university activities and service projects. In addition to planning events that contribute to school spirit and community welfare, the student council is the voice of the student body, who will help share student ideas, interests and concerns with the university administration. This year Bahria Springs' council consists of 35 dedicated members. They will stand hand in hand with Bahria Springs Administration to perform their responsibilities.

Who Says That Accountants Are Boring! Professional Accountants—Assets of the Future

The industry giants from Accountancy profession were brought together under one roof to raise the collective awareness among students about the profession. After a warm welcome speech from Head of Institution TMUC Karachi Mr. Hafeez Malik, Section Head of Bank of Islami addressed the importance of Professional Accountants followed by a fair contribution by ICAP Deputy Director Training & Education and then by ACCA Head of Business Development. Students were informed about the induction process for jobs & internships within the 'Big Four' Audit Firms of Karachi. The discussion sizzled when the representatives from the Big Four (Deloitte, KPMG, Ernst & Young, Ferguson) deliver on the stereotype that accountants are boring and motivated students to pursue their passions in life!

TMUC goes Crazy

OPEN HOUSE introducing University for the Creative Arts London (UCA)

Is Fashion An Instant Language? TMUC goes crazy!

Millennials of TMUC Karachi DHA Phase 1 Campus witnessed a miracle this month. The 'impossible' became 'possible' with the sheer determination of the Fashion & Textiles department where impressive collection of eighteen outfits was designed to perfection by students within a fleeting glimpse of two weeks only. The creativity of the students was reflecting through their work. Every design mirrored different ideas than the other. In the span of such short time, the hard work of these students paid off. Where they were able to demonstrate their ideas and creativity in every design.

The fashion display was showcased after the media & fashion sensation Sonya Hussain made entry in the Talk & Ideas Room. She not only appreciated students' hard work put her presence also became a source of motivation for these young innovative minds.

Suits & Stilettos”party at TMUC Gujranwala

A little lilting music and the chink of ice, new faces, smiles all along, resounding laughter- yes it is party time! The Millennium University College (TMUC), Queensbury Campus Gujranwala, an initiative of The Millennium Education Schools, organized a Welcome Party on 11th September 2018 at Eventurus Gujranwala for the fresher's who joined our community, for the academic year 2018-2019. It is to welcome newcomers in a friendly atmosphere to encourage their creative impulses to boost their confidence.

It was a fun filled event at which the students got an opportunity not only to showcase their talents but also to interact with the seniors. The theme for the party was "Suits & Stilettos". The program kick-started with a blistering performance from two of the senior students followed by new students coming in and mesmerizing everyone with their exhilarating performances including parodies, singing and dancing. At the end, lad and lady of the evening were announced from the fresher's.

This party deepened the exchange of feelings between students of all levels and was managed very well by combined efforts of students and the management working together.

Student council oath taking ceremony 2018

TMUC holds a stellar “ACADEMIA-INDUSTRY PARTNERSHIP SYMPOSIUM” at Marriott Islamabad

The Millennium University College (TMUC) in collaboration with University of Hertfordshire hosted an invigorating symposium to address the issue “Employability or Entrepreneurship, what matters more?” The theme was inspired by the need to direct university students about taking the best possible route for themselves and to understand the intricacies of choosing either one. The symposium featured a high-level exchange of ideas among academicians and business executives and specialists.

TMUC has been committed to holding such symposiums consistently; establishing academia-industry sustainable partnerships, that will bring forth successful results. The ideas and insights certainly sparked a lively debate among all those in attendance. The panel discussion provided an engaging platform for academia-industry alliance where academia representatives from both universities engaged in a dialogue to guide TMUC students about choosing professional pathways in order to succeed in the global working environment. Focal points of the debate included sharing of entrepreneurship knowledge and to come up with inclusive solutions to enhance students' resilience to adapt to the international business world.

The symposium was also part of the (Global Entrepreneurship Week-) GEW and pursue it with resilience.

TMUC, at the symposium hosted a diversified mix of renowned speakers that included Ambassador Shahid Kamal, Mir Muhammad Ali Khan- CEO AMZ, Mr. Tarek Hamdy- CEO Eighteen Mr. Zaheer Mehdi - Vice President Engro Corporation and ACCA Market Head (Business Development) Asad Hameed, along with CEO TMUC Chaudhry Faisal Mushtaq. All of them facilitated conversations that will bring about positive, sustainable change to the students' approach towards employability & entrepreneurship.

that is held every November, to inspire millions to engage in entrepreneurial activity while connecting them to potential collaborators, mentors and even investors.

Professor Damian Ward- Dean of Hertfordshire Business School who was especially here from UK for the event, enlightened students on how the economic landscape has changed over the years and the most important resources are now people and knowledge.

Dr. Ather Osama, the Founder of Pakistan Innovation Foundation gave the keynote address on how we must always find the way forward in spite of any hindrance and believe in our passion

TMUC Karachi, Presents Academia – Industry Partnership

The Millennium University College (TMUC), Karachi, an initiative of The Roots Education, organized an Academia-Industry Partnership themed Open House in an effort to bridge the gap between industry and the academia, at their flagship campus in DHA Karachi on the 23rd of October 2018.
